Europe

- To give everyone the opportunity to speak up its position and meet the different parties to enable the debate to go one step forward, in view of establishing future political initiatives and implementations
- To present the existent technological solutions, as well as funding opportunities for both emergency services and industry
- To raise the awareness of politicians, the media and citizens across the member states (press conference on Friday, February 9th)

A two days Summit: 6th & 7th June 2007

The summit is an opportunity for all the actors in the emergency (tele)communications to be present via a stand in an exhibition area.

Workshops will be proposed on different themes and the Summit will invite the strategic meetings of ETSI, EMTEL and e-Call.

The Summit will be an extraordinary chance for networking in the European world of emergency solutions and security in general. A lounge zone will be equipped to serve this purpose.

A reception on Wednesday 6th of June

On the fringe of the Summit, a reception will be organised. It will be the opportunity for an award ceremony honouring individuals and partnerships across Europe for dedication or improvement of the emergency (tele)communications.
